Flood complaints dominate meeting

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

When the meeting started, Chouteau Township Supervisor Pat Polley said she hoped it would not be a "confrontational meeting where people come to you first."

She didn't quite get her wish.

About 80 Chouteau Township residents attended the township board's meeting Monday. Before dinner, a mix of business, township officials and members of a Federal Emergency Management Agency community relations team spent about an hour answering flood-related questions.

While residents were not as confrontational as at the last township meeting, Polley and Jim Pratko, township highway commissioner, and a trustee of the Chouteau, Nameoki, Venice Drainage District, fielded a number of questions from residents angry about flooding.

The FEMA team fared better than answering a few questions about flood insurance and proper procedures.

The team came to the meeting to explain the registration process for emergency aid, according to Kathy McKoy of FEMA.

"Basically we encourage them to apply, and if they haven't already to get into the system," she said.

The toll-free numbers are 1-800-462-9029 or 1-800-462-7585 for the speech or hearing impaired.

FEMA has also opened three flood recovery information offices, including one at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

The flood recovery offices will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily, for as long as they are needed.

The local office is at the campus in Module Building 1 and 2, 4950 Maryville Road, Granite City.

Several times during the meeting, McKoy emphasized that FEMA could not help people who did not begin the registration process.

When residents asked why the agency had not said there was flooding, Polley said it was a combination of 12 inches of rain, a drainage system built in 1952 and increased development.

Whether it is a morning eye opener, an after meal relaxer or a late night refresher, nothing beats a cup of coffee.

And according to our readers, no place around serves a better cup of Java than G's Grill, 1623 Madison Ave.

Wanda Turner, manager, said that customers look for three things in a good cup of coffee — flavor, freshness and temperature.

G's, located across from Granite City Steel near the 16th Street entrance, offers a variety of Rose's Premium Blend coffee by the cup, to go, and by the thermos. "We've tried switching brands before, but people would complain," Turner said.

Durbin announcement starts political scramble

SPRINGFIELD — As expected, longtime Rep. Richard Durbin of Springfield will run for the U.S. Senate next year, setting off a scramble of candidates for his House seat.

Durbin, who had appeared to have an open run at the seat held by his political mentor, retiring U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, will apparently face a contest in the Democratic primary. Former State Auditor Jim Quinn and former Democratic National Committee Chairman David Wilhelm also indicated Tuesday they would run.

Madison County Treasurer John Shinkus, a Republican who unsuccessfully challenged Durbin in 1992, has begun positioning himself for another bid for the 20th Congressional District seat. Durbin's 1994 Republican opponent, Bill Owens of Springfield, has reportedly said he plans another run and another field police officer, Rep. Republican Rich Angel, also has announced his candidacy.

"Today I want to make clear that I intend to run for the United States Senate seat," Durbin said in a meeting with friends of who else enters. He said former State Attorney General Neil Hartigan's decision last week to not seek the seat and endorse (See DURBIN, Page 9A)

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record Journals.

Flood recovery offices opened

The Illinois Emergency Management Agency and Federal Emergency Management Agency have opened three flood recovery information offices, including one at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

Phil Zafarinos, FEMA's federal coordinating officer, said the centers will be staffed by representatives of local, state, and federal agencies, as well as private organizations offering help to disaster victims.

At the centers, people can examine options for rebuilding or repairing damaged buildings located in flood plains; learn common-sense measures to reduce the impact of future flooding; receive additional assistance on, and specific information about U.S. Small Business Administration disaster loans; and receive U.S. Internal Revenue Service tax relief for flood victims, help provided by the American Red Cross and other private agencies, the Disaster Housing and Individual and Family Grant Programs and the National Flood Insurance Program.

Area high schools graduate 500

Chemical engineering is the career of choice among the top students at Granite City, Madison and Venice high schools.

Granite City valedictorian and salutatorian Sabina Kumar and Colleen Fritzsche and Venice High School valedictorian Annie Lyons all plan to become chemical engineers.

The three were among 500 high school seniors graduated from area schools.

Venice and Granite City high school graduations were held Friday; Madison High School's was held the week before.

Shooting suspect freed

Lawrence McNairy was acquitted of attempted murder and aggravated battery Thursday in the shooting of his mother-in-law in a case involving alleged drug dealing in the Eagle Park area.

The jury deliberated less than four hours before returning a verdict that made the 19-year-old McNairy a free man. He was charged with shooting Carole J. Carney of Summerfield in the back of the head June 19, 1993, and leaving her on the road.

However, the jury found there was not enough evidence for a conviction, especially since Carney could not verify that McNairy was the one who shot her.

City sewer fee may be raised

Granite City residents may soon find themselves paying more for sewer service.

Last year, the Granite City Council recommended that the engineering firm of Juncos Associates conduct a rate study to determine exactly what the city pays for maintenance of the sewer system — including the wastewater treatment plant, actual sewer lines and billing.

Sanders may give up one post

Nancy Sanders is a busy woman.

The recently-elected 4th Ward alderman is also a Granite City Park District commissioner and a teacher at Marshall Elementary School.

Now she will be a principal at Lake Elementary School. An attorney general opinion states that the park and city offices are incompatible.

Sanders said she has written two resignation letters and has not yet decided which one to submit.

New law may help with children

A new law will give juvenile court judges some help in placement of children removed from their families.

The new law, signed by Gov. Jim Edgar last week, is designed to reduce the backlog of cases by allowing hearing officers to help decide what to do with children removed from their families because of suspected abuse or neglect.

"This legislation will help prevent children from lingering in our child welfare system," Edgar said. "It will expedite their placement into the permanent family environments that they so desperately need."

The new law allows hearing officers to take evidence developed against parents between parties and recommend action to judges when it comes to determining the future of children under state care.

After a child is removed from a home, the state must make a determination on whether it is in the child's best interest to be returned to the family or placed in a permanent placement.

Supporters say the process will move faster under the new procedure because juvenile judges will have more time to spend on a "critical" decision to remove a child from a family in the first place.

Don't drive alone, district saysRideFinders program tries to match up commuters

Going to work is a lonely experience for most people. But the Madison County Transit District is trying to change that.

Through its RideFinders program, the district is encouraging car pooling, van pooling and other alternative transportation arrangements. If successful, the effort would result in reduced traffic congestion and air pollution.

As part of RideShare Week, Madison County Board Chairman and Transit District Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer has proclaimed the week of June 12-16 RideShare Week in Madison County.

During RideShare Week, commuters are being encouraged to leave their automobiles at home and consider transportation alternatives such as car pools, van pools, walking, bicycling, MetroLink or telecommuting.

A added bonus, those who pledge to try alternative modes of transportation can win weekend golf vacations, rental cars, bicycles, free oil changes, bus passes and gift certificates.

Health screenings to be offered

High blood cholesterol is one of the risk factors for developing heart disease. Elevated blood cholesterol levels can lead to early development of narrowing of the arteries and coronary heart disease. Coronary heart disease is the cause of almost 30 percent of the two million deaths in the United States each year.

The National Institute of Health recommends all adults age 20 and over have their blood cholesterol levels checked, because the risk of developing heart disease increase in proportion to the amount the cholesterol is elevated.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's CardioPulmonary Rehab and Prevention Program is offering cholesterol testing, blood pressure checks and blood sugar screenings, plus a professional consultation with a dietitians:

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Thursday, June 8, at the Granite City Schnucks, 3401 Nameoki Road in Granite City. No reservations are required. Participants will be seen on a first-come, first-served basis.

From 1 to 3 p.m.

Wednesday, June 21, at the Wellness Center, 2105 Main in Granite City. Registration is required. Call 788-3201 to reserve a convenient time.

Cholesterol level screenings, blood pressure tests and professional consultation on the results will be offered at both locations for $7. Blood sugar tests, blood pressure tests and professional consultation on the results will be offered for $1.

Approximately 79 percent of commuters in the bi-state area drive to work alone, said Sheila Irani, RideFinders program manager.

RideFinders works by linking commuters with car pools and van pools, and also helps employers interested in developing ride-share programs.

"The campaign is a way to get people to break the habit of getting behind the wheel every day," Irani said. "People in the region may be willing to try an alternative mode of transportation, but many are unsure of how to do it. RideShare Week is an opportunity to introduce people to Irani said the sponsors of the drive hope to attract as many as 10,000 riders during RideShare Week.

During the campaign, approximately 25,000 ride-share pledge cards will be distributed to commuters. Information cards are available by calling 1-800-VIP-RIDE. Irani said that based on national statistics, one-third of the commuters pledging to ride-share will be doing so for the first time, and 60 percent are repeat participants.

She said most people continue to commute alone because of the convenience factor.

"For suburban areas there is not a lot of mass transit available," she said. "Gas prices are low and parking is usually free."

RideFinders was set up in February 1994 to help vehicle owners in the St. Louis region buy 15 percent in late 1994.

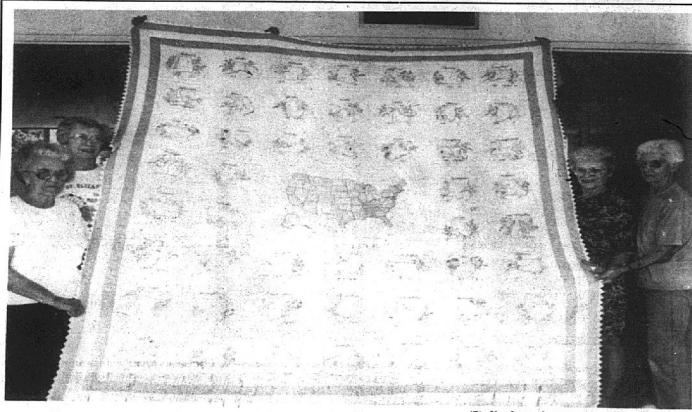

It serves seven counties in both Illinois and Missouri. In Illinois, the program serves Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties. In Missouri, it serves Franklin, Jefferson, St. Charles and St. Louis counties, including the city of St. Louis.

RideFinders is funded primarily through the Federal Highway Administration's Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality Improvement Funds, and is administered by the Madison County Transit District.

Irani said the transit district receives $1.8 million in federal funding per year for the two-year program. Most of that money goes toward purchasing vans.

Irani said van pool drivers have a very nice deal: "They get personal use of the van."

Other than propane licensing, the main requirement is being on time. All participants are responsible and is being pushed in the regional because of pressure from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Ryan still considering state office closings

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

The attorney general's staff is studying whether to decrease the number of regional offices.

Attorney General Jim Ryan said "nothing has changed during his campaign that he was committed to some sort of reorganization" of the office, but he is not yet sure what that will be. "I believe it's right to look into it further," he said.

Two offices in downstate—Granite City and East St. Louis could be consolidated, but Ryan said he was not in a position to say one way or the other what the outcome of the study will be.

"I just don't think they're always terribly effective and they're very costly," he said. "I'm not convinced the present number is needed or works very well."

There are 18 satellite offices with 78 employees outside Springfield and Chicago and Ryan said he knows the state cannot operate with just those two.

About $4 million of the attorney general's $30 million budget is earmarked to operate the 18 offices. The legislature has approved a $30 million "no-growth" budget for the AG for the next fiscal year that begins July 1.

There are six employees in the East St. Louis office serving St. Clair and Monroe counties and five employees in Granite City which serves Madison, Bond, Calhoun, Fayette, Greene, Jefferson, Macoupin and Montgomery counties.

Former Attorney General Neil Hartigan ran the regional office concept in 1984. The regional offices handle a number of issues including consumer complaints, senior citizen advocacy, veterans' rights and environmental issues.

In the past decade, the Granite City Regional Office has been responsible for opening more than 38,000 cases through consumer complaints resulting in restitution of more than $900,000 directly to victims.

Attorneys have received more than $2.1 million in non-litigation settlements, judgments entered in court total more than $2.4 million and more than $1.7 million in fines were collected by the state as a result of actions by the Granite City regional office.

Illinois also saved an estimated $637,000 by the local office negotiating settlements rather than going to trial.

Ryan gave no indication when the study might be complete.

A collective bargaining agreement covering the support staff at the office requires a 10 day notification before implementing any reduction in staff.

Edwardsville advances plan to annex part of SIUE campus

City officials say they hope to annex two residential areas of SIUE this summer or early fall after plans moved swiftly through the City Council committee Thursday.

Members of the Administrative and Community Services Committee unanimously approved annexing land that Mayor George Niebur and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville officials worked out during the past year.

The city wants to annex Tower Lake apartments and the university's new Residence Hall. In order to reach the residential area, city leaders want to annex three 300-foot-wide strips of land — two that extend to the campus from the city limits and one that runs across the north edge of the city.

The deal would provide additional tax revenue for the city, which would give free fire protection services for the university residential areas, officials said.

The proposal must pass muster at a public hearing to be scheduled this month and also must be approved by the full City Council and the SIU Board of Trustees.

An SIU official at the community meeting said the university board appears supportive of the plan.

There have been no objections from board members, university Vice President for Administration Kenneth Neher said.

The SIU board could take up the annexation proposal at its July meeting.

According to the negotiated proposal for Tower Lake, connecting strips would extend north from the Timberlake subdivision to a west of Pog Road to reach the apartments. The finger along Pog Road continues west to meet land annexed by the city in 1993.

The annexed land around Tower Lake is irregular about 2,700 feet wide and roughly 3,000 feet at its longest point.

City access to the Residence Hall would be gained by annexing a 400-foot-wide strip that extends north from city limits near the Vadablene Nature Trail behind Country Club View subdivision. The area to be annexed around the Residence Hall is about 1,200 feet wide and at its longest point.

Annexation discussions also included University Park. The agreement gives the city an option to annex the park within seven years. Niebur said it wouldn't be to the city's advantage to annex the property this year.

It does not appear financially beneficial to the city because of the cost of the services we would provide," Niebur said.

Under the proposed deal, the city would provide fire and ambulance services to the entire campus, which would save the SIUE $72,000 in fees to the city annually.

City officials are expecting about $170,000 in additional tax money annually if the annexation is approved.

The university would also designate a parcel of land on campus as a possible location for a new Edwardsville fire station. The city would not be responsible for building inspections and university police would continue to patrol the annexed areas.

The committee voted 2-0 to pass the annexation plans onto the City Council.

Officials must be responsible

TO THE EDITOR:

Every season, dry or not, our land is stripped of necessary vegetation, as rain-absorbing trees are replaced with asphalt and concrete.

Officials allowing permits to build in low places should know better. These officials should know the ditches won't be big enough, they won't end up being cut to the power of Mother Nature. However, our officials still have not come to realize one very basic fact — if land is under water before development, it is a waste of time before the water assumes its natural position once again.

For the past 70 years, politicians have taken much pride in allocating large amounts of money for flood control in order to soothe the concerns of those threatened by flooding water. However, there are still many serious and very obvious water problems in our country.

As I see it, if all the money that has been collected over the years for such control was actually used for a project in the ground, we would in fact, have no more flooding water.

I cannot see that happening because if it did, the politicians would have to show where millions of dollars for nothing, to solve a problem which only grows worse day by day as water continues to pour into the basements of homes throughout DuBosey and surrounding areas. I am one in accord with other chronic flood victims when I say, "Please stop the studies."

The cost of studies has soared due to inflation and an additional amount of construction and which is so flood-prone that any drainage plan will be at great expense.

The voters of the Metro East Sanitary and Drainage District voted you and me against the spending of millions of their tax dollars to correct drainage problems over five years ago. While it is true that some work has been done, mostly in St. Clair County, an effective plan has yet to be put into action for Madison County.

While I am pleased to see our tax-exempt entities folks in the flood plains of the Metro East Sanitary District territory, I am disappointed that no relief has been found for the residents of Madison County.

My request today is simple. I am asking for officials on the Madison County Zoning Board, the Metro East Sanitary and Drainage District and the Madison County Land Use Committee to assume their originally intended duty: To protect and actively aid chronic flood victims by stopping development in the lands and flood plains.

I am certain none share in this request. There are many flood victims who are tired of those who wear two hats, give verbal permission on building permits etc., and continue to abstain from voting (which is the same as yes vote) on issues that directly affect the flow of water into our homes, basements and yards.

Our homes, schools, churches, streets and sewers cannot wait a day longer for building officials of weak dedication to our cause. Something must be done now to have a better development in special flood hazard areas.

Constant dissatisfaction should be the order of the day.

Nursing home receives praise

TO THE EDITOR:

A nursing home? Never. Are these words familiar to you?

I guess we have all said that at one time or another. I know I did.

After my mother was stricken with a massive stroke on Jan. 21, 1994, I knew I had a problem. Being a certified medical aide and also a cardiology tech at SEMC, there was no way mom would be put in a nursing home. When I finally realized the extent of brain damage and also the constant around-the-clock care needed for her, I began to panic. Mom would be at home with me. It was my place to give her all this care. How wrong I was.

After consulting many physicians, I finally realized this was impossible. My husband and I began looking at nursing homes in and around our area. After visiting Colonial Care Center, I decided I would try it for a month or so.

Well, that month or so turned into one year and 10 days. Her care was more than excellent. Everyone was great — the administration, director of nurses, the cooks, maintenance, aides, nurses, social department, and whatever.

Mom became quite well liked. They referred to her as "June." She was giving signs of Popsi, letters of candy and cookies and whatever.

I made many friends in this time. They kept me abreast of doctor visits, medications and any changes in her condition either physical or mental. Her physical care was beyond words. In fact, at the time of death, the fact was made from the funeral home that she had excellent care.

So, you see, in my opinion, nursing homes are never given anything but a negative response. I truthfully say that Colonial Care was excellent.

Thanks to every one of them. My mom received far better care than I could have ever hoped to give her. Thanks to all of you. You are always in my heart.

Daughter of June "June-bug" Jones

Readers got wrong idea

TO THE EDITOR:

Your article, "Lackluster Votes," appears to give the readers and citizens of Madison the impression that the Madison City Council is evenly divided into opposing political camps.

The article said that the mayor was down 4-3 votes regarding appointing department heads, i.e., chief of police, comptroller, secretary, treasurer, etc.

I am confused as to how these so-called city hall sources arrived at this conclusion.

I have not been approached by the mayor or any of the prospective candidates for mayor. I have spoken with other members of the city council who were present at the council meeting on May 12. They have not been approached by the nominees or the mayor for their support.

My vote cannot be taken for granted. I am sure the other members of the city council feel the same. Each candidate will be considered on his or her merits.

At the May 23 Madison City Council meeting, your reporter was seated next to me. This gave me ample opportunity to interview me. There was no need to rely on so-called mysterious city hall "sources."

I do not want a confrontation with my neighbors; however, I want readers and citizens of Madison to have an informed and balanced view of the Madison City Council.

Edwards only territorial governor

Bill Winter

Illinois has had 40 governors since becoming a state in 1818, but there was only one Illinois territorial governor — Ninian Edwards.

He served the vast territory for nine years, from 1809 until 1818.

Edwards' Edwardsville's most famous citizen was called the "father of Illinois" at his birth.

The eulogy was given in 1834 by Rev. John Mason Peck, founder of Shurtleff College in Alton area. ***

Edwards was one of 14 children of the German Edwards family of Maryland. Ninian's education included a select school in Maryland, private tutors and Dickenson College, Pennsylvania.

Edwards was well versed in history from his earlier education that he was excused from some of the usual law studies and devoted his extra time to medicine.

It was he who became a doctor but did consult at times without charge.

Edwards at 19 was given money by his father to buy land and start his estates as Western frontiers were opened to exploration.

Two centuries later, accounts of his adventures indicate that he for a time indulged in gambling and drinking. These pursuits were blamed for the fact that he had squandered all of his money by the age of 25. But during this period he had grown enormously in popularity. An eloquent speaker, elegant dresser and accomplished lawyer, he was soon elected as U.S. attorney for Kentucky from Nelson County in Kentucky.

And, while still at an early age, Edwards became the attorney general of Kentucky. On Sept. 29, he won name chief justice of the high court of appeals in Kentucky.

On recommendations by Wirt and Henry Clay, President James Madison appointed Edwards then 34, as Illinois territorial governor.

After serving as governor of the territory of Illinois prior to its admission as a state, Edwards was elected as one of the first two U.S. senators from the new state.

He later won election as the state's third governor, serving from 1826 to 1830.

In between his Senate service and his return to the Executive Mansion, Edwards was chosen for appointment as minister to Mexico by President James Monroe.

He retired as governor at the age of 65 and returned from Edwardsville to Belleville. He died of cholera four years later in Belleville.

During his service at Belleville, his first attempts were made to raise money by taxation to establish a system of public schools.

His brother, Cyrus, was one of the original trustees of Alton Seminary, later Shurtleff College and now part of Southern Illinois University. ***

Although not designated as a territory until 1809, Illinois had been explored by Joliet and Marquette as early as 1673 and its first town, Cahokia, was established in 1699.

In 1763, with the end of the French and Indian War, Illinois was included in land given to England by France in the Treaty of Paris.

The American Revolution began when Edwards was an infant, and in 1778 George Rogers Clark captured the trading centers of Cahokia and Kaskaskia on the Mississippi River. Illinois formally became part of the United States in 1813 and part of the Northwest Territory in 1817.

It was included in the Territory of Indiana beginning in 1800.

Illinois was designated as a territory in 1809 from what is now Illinois and Wisconsin. Kaskaskia was chosen as the capital.

Throughout his tenure as territorial governor, there was trouble with Indians, which grew unfriendly as they saw more and more of their land being taken away by white settlers.

The worst uprising occurred in 1812 when many whites were massacred at Fort Dearborn on the Illinois side of the river.

Gov. Edwards in 1815 went to the Mississippi River south of Alton and joined with Gov. William Clark of Missouri and Andrew Chouteau of St. Louis in signing a peace treaty with area Indians.

Illinois became the 21st state on Dec. 3, 1818, when the population was 40,000.

Settlement remained slow until the defeat of Indians in the Black Hawk War of 1832. At that time there were 120,000 Illinois Indians.

The town of Chicago was created in 1833, shortly before Ninian Edwards' death in 1834.

Large crowds paid their respects to the twice-governor at the courthouse in Belleville.

What's in a nickname? fascination

Bonita Tillman

Nicknames have always fascinated me. Having been raised primarily in a small town, I was used to them because they were so common. Actually, it was something I took for granted.

Names like "Junior" for a son named after Dad or "Eddie" for Edward or "Patsy" for William were common.

But even I had to wonder how one came about the moniker of "Snake" or "Hammerhead." Who decided to call the kid that in the first place? And who allowed it to stick? Were these descriptive names? And even more, those names had nothing to do with the person's real name.

Even in my own family, "Red," "Little Willie" and "Midget" are the names I have always called several relatives. But only Red really fit his nickname.

After becoming state's attorney, he can ask a witness if he knows Charles Smith and he'll say no. But if you ask him to identify the same person as "Red Eye," or some other name, he'll probably get lucky. Many people grow up quite familiar with someone in their neighborhood but know them only by a street name.

John Doe, who recently was on trial for murder, was known as "Antoine," which actually was his middle name. His co-defendants? They were "Dee" and "Heidi," who dated "Matthew" and "Laura."

Even prosecutors know they will talk to the talk to keep everyone on their toes and use the nicknames when referring to players in criminal cases. One prosecutor's use of a defendant's nickname was offered up as one of many reasons for an appeal. However, appellate court judges knew the story. It was OK with them.

After all, they probably grew up with a few "Midgets," "Shorties" and "Stretchies" themselves. It was just a different neighborhood.

Congressman Jerry Costello made a surprise visit to the DARE graduation to congratulate the 395 sixth grad students.

DARE students get recognition, diplomas

June 1 was a day of milestones for Granite City school students. Granite City's first Drug Abuse Resistance Education graduating class was on the high school football field practicing for commencement as another group of sixth graders received DARE diplomas and certificates.

Also that day, Walter Milton Jr., Granite City's first DARE officer, was recognized for his contributions to the youth of the community. Granite City High School Superintendent B.J. Davis, the retiring provost at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, addressed the most recent DARE graduates.

"What a proud feeling to know you have that internal quality we call 'guts'. To do the right thing simply because it is the right thing — that makes you a hero," Davis told the approximate 400 DARE graduates.

Davis said that the drug war has to be fought on an individual basis. "Drugs will cease to be a problem in this country when there are no buyers," he said. "If there are no buyers, there will be no dealers."

He compared the "high" he gets from fishing to the high drug abusers get from chemicals. "My high lasts much longer," Davis said. "I can have fun with it for a long time. I can even make the fish get bigger."

He said that his close contact with young people throughout his career has instilled in him a great confidence in youth.

He said today's young people are deeply involved in more important activities than drug abuse — activities that create a better "high" than chemicals: activities like assisting the less fortunate with charity and food, community cleanup, visiting the elderly and scouting, school and church activities.

"Each generation comes through and does what it takes to make this world a better place," Davis said.

In addition to the DARE diplomas distributed last week, five students were recognized for their essays on topics written after the DARE curriculum. The essay winners were Tyshia Walton, Lake School; Kyle Smoot, Marshall School; Jennifer Clinton, Mitchell School; Alicia Gaines, Niedringhaus School; and Shannon Stapleton, Wilson School.

"What a proud feeling to know you have that internal quality we call 'guts'!"

Benefit will aid County Humane Society

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Organizers hope Mother Nature is more cooperative this year than last for the annual Madison County Humane Society Walk-A-Thon next weekend.

The 6th annual fund-raising event will be held Saturday at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Center.

Humane Society President Van Kavage said that last year heavy rains limited the Walk-A-Thon to only about 20 people, the poorest turnout in its history.

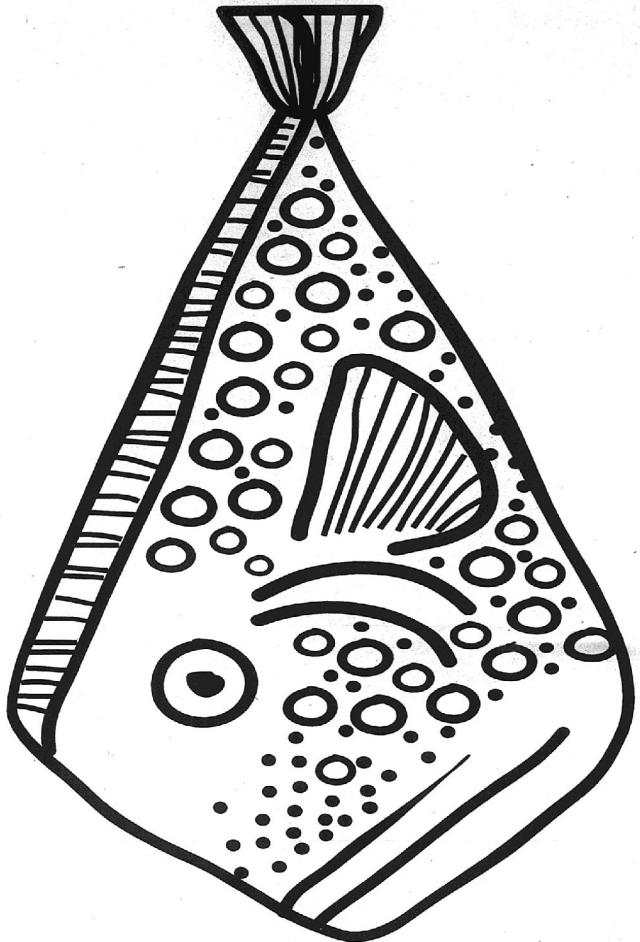

"The weather was as bad as you can imagine," Van Kavage said. "It's really a shame because this is such a fun and important event for fundraising. Hopefully, this year will be better."

Van Kavage said that in addition to the Walk-A-Thon, contests will be held to determine dogs with the longest legs, best howl, best costume, the best stupid pet trick and the dog that most resembles its owner.

Winners of the contests will win trophies, while Walk-A-Thon participants who raise $200 or more will get a sweatshirt, those who raise $100 or more will receive a T-shirt and those who raise less than $100 will get their choice between a mug, a button or a small tote bag.

Last year, because of the bad weather, only about $3,500 was raised for the Humane Society. Van Kavage said it is important to have better results this year.

Granite City Press-Record, June 8, 1995—SA

•Durbin

Durbin was a factor in his final decision.

Durbin declined to comment on the possible candidacies of Quinn or Wilhelm.

"I think there was no primary (contest) so we could save the money for the race in the fall, but my decision today was not based on who might get in or get out," he said.

Durbin has represented the 20th Congressional District for 13 years. The district included Jersey, Greene, Calhoun and Macoupin counties for the entire period and about half of Madison County for the past three years.

With Durbin's support, Quinn may have more name recognition statewide.

Quinn lost his challenge last year to populist incumbent Sec. of State George Ryan after having served one term as state treasurer. Previously he was known for his campaigns for populist state constitutional amendments and referendums.

"I have a 1994 Dodge Omni that is raring to go," Quinn said Tuesday, adding that he would emphasize such themes as term limits and "tax reform for wage earners."

Wilhelm, little known outside the party organization, was deputy campaign manager for Simpson's first run for the Senate in 1984 and helped engineer President Clinton's 1992 victory.

Wilhelm said Tuesday he is "poised to enter the race" for the Senate seat.

Rep. Robert Kustra is expected to be the Republican candidate in the race.

Meanwhile, Shimkus announced Tuesday that seven state legislators from the 20th Congressional District had joined a steering committee for his possible congressional candidacy.

and Madison.

She told the City Council Tuesday that the newspaper's coverage of the current battle among environmental systems companies competing for the county's residential garbage has been slanted.

"The Granite City Press-Record Journal does not in any way resemble any responsible newspaper I have ever heard of," she said. "It prints only what its editor wants you to know."

She said that a reporter at a committee meeting she attended seemed to her to be "a sales man" for the mixed waste concept.

"Should not the citizens be allowed to hear all sides?"

The people of Granite City are going to be mad as hell when they find out that this deal is going to cost them much more for trash disposal. And that it is not going to comply with the law," she said. "It would end up having to breathe air contaminated by the burning of its own garbage," Andria said.

Although a trash-to-energy plant has been proposed for some Wood River environmental park where the proposed Norton mixed waste material recovery facility would be located, Alderman Brian Fuzzessery said that nothing would be burned at the proposed Norton plant.

Proposed for both mixed waste and clean merch concepts say they will comply with the law and be able to do it for about $2 more per month per household.

Andria said residents have also not been told that a contract proposed by Norton could be illegal.

City Controller K.P. MacTaggart said that the city is seeking to negotiate its own contract rather than accept an agreement Norton has proposed for all cities.

Residents have also not been told that a clean merch could be built in Granite City while the Norton facility would be in Wood River. Andria said.

"I understand they have repeatedly asked county officials where a proposed clean merch would be located, but have received no firm answers from county officials," Andria said.

Andria said that she would like to see the county's clean merch located in the Wood River environmental park.

Andria also said that the newspaper has misrepresented county officials' statements and refused to print a letter she wrote to the editor.

Asked by a reporter to state specifically what he what had been misrepresented, Andria declined to comment.

The newspaper has not received a letter from Andria, but has printed the only letter it has received from a curbside resident.

Andria said that residents have not been told that Laidlaw Waste Systems will build a clean merch in the county. In an article published in the May 9 Granite City Journal had the following headline: "Laidlaw plans own clean merch".

Andria said that residents have not been told that Norton cannot be profitable and that the city's hands will be tied by a contract with no option of backing out.

MacTaggart said that the city has not begun negotiating its contract with Norton yet, but if the plant fails the city will instruct its trash hauler to take its garbage elsewhere. Kim Affolter said that she has been following newspaper coverage of the issue since it was first raised.

"The public has followed this issue closely in the newspaper and I think the paper has looked objectively at the issue," Affolter said.

PETRILLO SAID.

The city has been researching its options for about three months. Petrillo and aldermen Bob Shipley, Kim Affolter, Bob Page, Bob Cook, Brian Fuzzessery and Nancy Sanders all went to Ohio to observe a Norton facility.

Affolter and Shipley also went to Sarasota, Florida to observe an RRS clean merch.

While Norton has circulated a proposed contract to municipalities, City Controller K.P. MacTaggart has recommended that the city negotiate a different agreement with Norton.

The agreement would commit the city to paying its garbage hauler to take residential trash from the city to the Norton facility in Wood River.

If an agreement is worked out, the city will require competing proposals from waste haulers. The city's current contract with Waste Management is set to expire this summer.

Andria said that the city fails to work out a satisfactory commitment agreement with Norton, Petrillo said, the city can pursue the clean merch option.

the flood of 1993 at a cost of nearly $2 million. All but two of those repairs were reimbursed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency and Madison County.

The design of two new access roads into and out of North Granite also began in 1994, Selph said.

He said that $13.5 million in construction value was begun in the city last year — an 82 percent increase over 1993. Permit revenue collection also increased by 82 percent, he said.

A homemaker, she was of the Protestant faith.

•Meeting

Eadie Jones, who lives in Mitchell Lake subdivision, said development should be stopped in that area until something is done about flooding.

Police said building permits were issued by the county, and townships could do little to stop development.

"If the (county) board had thought about it, several of those houses in flood-prone areas should never have been built," she said. She added that the present drainage system was designed to drain farmland, and without state or federal help, the drainage district could do very little.

"They have been working with inadequate funds," she said. "There is no way they could build an $18-million pump house."

Franke said the district has been talking to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and eventually they might be able to rebuild the present pump house and build a new one.

Local residents also criticized for not cleaning drainage ditches, allowing levels to become too high before the flood, and shutting down operations during flooding.

After the meeting, several residents who spoke up during the meeting said they were disappointed with responses from local officials.

"As far as FEMA is concerned, for people in emergency areas, it was once a good agency," said Teresa Copper. "I was hoping for more answers as far as questions about Stanley Ditch."

"I don't feel those things were answered," she added. "Those are telling me anything."

John B. Jones, a Mitchell Lake subdivision resident, said he wanted to know who was supposed to do what.

"The basic concern we have as residents is that they wouldn't answer the question about what they did short of fielding questions during the flood," he said. "What about the rest of the year, and why are they not doing something to alleviate that problem from happening in the first place. That's what the tax dollars are there for."

Jones said county officials should have attended the meeting.

"It really wasn't very helpful," she said. "This information from FEMA we could have got by calling. We need answers from our county board members on what can be done to improve the drainage out here."

Triplets lose season opener, 3-2

Jason Wood and the Post 113 baseball team are back in action this weekend with three more home games at Varsity Field.

By Garen Vartanian
Correspondent

In baseball, one play can determine the outcome of a seven-inning game. That was never more true than Tuesday in Granite City. Aided by throwing a man out at the plate, Waterloo Post 747 gained a 3-2 win over Tri-City Post 113 in the District 29 American Legion opener for both teams.

WITH TRI-CITY trailing 3-1 in the bottom of the fifth and threatening to cut the lead to one, Tri-City center fielder Dean Hermann gunned down Jason Wood at the plate to preserve the two-run lead.

Tri-City would score another run in the seventh, but it wasn't enough as Waterloo hung on.

"Obviously, that play hurt us a lot," Tri-City coach Don Winstfield said. "It made a big difference in the game."

After a scoreless first inning, Waterloo was the first to dent the scoreboard, scoring a single tally in the second. Matt Voegle stroked a lead off, bad-hop double off starter Bill Niepert. Mark Fortman followed with a single, third base, Andy Schaefer then drove Voegle in with a bloop single to left field.

times overpowering fastball to keep the Tri-City hitters off balance.

At the same time, Niepert had settled down after a rocky start, and both hurlers settled into a pitchers duel.

That continued into the bottom of the fifth, when Vogel finally ran into some trouble. After retiring the first two hitters, Vogel gave up a hit to Brian Lloyd, who advanced to second base on Voegle's error in right field. Wood then rapped a line drive, which got past Hermann on the board. Vogel walked Andy Roe, who was on base four times — setting the stage for Hermann's great throw to retire Wood at the plate, ending the inning with the score still 3-1.

NIEPERT TWIRLED two more scoreless frames, giving Tri-City a chance to rally in the eighth inning. After failing to score off reliever Cody Frederick in the sixth, Tri-City made some noise in the seventh.

Shane Kuehne started to lead off. Kuehne was bailed out to second, and he moved to third on a fly ball by Lloyd. Wood then almost got a hit to left field. But shortstop Jeremiah Bergheger made a nice catch in foul territory, retiring Wood at first. Lloyd did WATERLOO WENT TO work again in the third inning. After recording a strikeout to start the inning, Niepert walked Brian Chad Steinen. Steinen followed with a two-run homer to give Waterloo a 3-0 cushion.

Meanwhile, Waterloo starter Mike Vogel allowed two hits through four innings while striking out five and walking one. Vogel was using a nice mix of hard breaking balls and a moving, somewhat off-speed fastball.

Injuries took toll on soccer team

By Tony Panozzo

The most frustrating season for coach Gene Baker's eight-year-old Lady Warriors soccer team was also the most injury-filled.

It was perhaps the hardest a Baker team has been hit with injuries in his time at Granite City High.

"WITHOUT QUESTION," said Baker, who began coaching the Lady Warriors in 1988 and has led the boys soccer team to nine state championships in 10 years. "It was an injury-plagued season."

"It's just one of those things. You can overcome a lot of things, but you can't overcome that many."

Granite City's two leading scorers over the past two years — seniors Staci Dowdy and Holly Farnsworth, were expected to lead the offense after a two-year run to the state tournament. Granite City placed fourth at state last season, went 18-5-2 and had reason to aim even higher this year.

But Dowdy injured her ankle in the second game of the season and Farnsworth was lost to a season-ending knee injury April 7. Another senior forward, Penny Kreher, suffered a knee injury in preseason practice and missed the entire year.

AMONG THE LADY Warriors' other casualties were senior fullbacks Tonya Genovese and Kara Gauen near the end of the season, along with junior goalkeeper Arcie Bergheger. The Lady Warriors' injury list seemed to grow all year, which ended with a 2-0 loss to O'Fallon on May 29 in the Granite City Sectional semifinals.

The loss marked the first time since 1988 — when the girls soccer state tournaments series began — that Granite City did Jaime Dellbringe of the Lady Warriors moves the ball upfield against O'Fallon in the sectional semifinals. Not play at least in the sectional final.

O'Fallon's upset victory over Granite City, combined with Springfield's win over Collinsville, marked the first time neither team represented southern Illinois at state.

O'Fallon lost 2-1 in overtime to Naperville Central in the state quarterfinals last Friday.

THE LADY WARRIORS ended the year 12-6-1 after losing to O'Fallon in a game full of scoring chances for the start this season, falling 5-0 to top-seeded hosts. But Granite City lost by shutout in the sixth time between them and the third time in its last five games.

The combination of injuries and lineup changes appeared to take a toll on the Lady Warriors, who seemed to lose a player each week.

"I was proud of the girls," Baker said. "They hung in there. They had a good attitude by and large. Some teams have to make their own breaks."

recently defeated the Red Knights for the Missouri state title.

The Lady Warriors' finish in the tournament marked the high point of the season.

"That was a highlight of the season, and we did that with injuries," Baker said.

NAMED TO THE all-tournament team was Dowdy, who played sweeper and earned All-State honors as a senior after playing striker as a junior and defender as a sophomore. Dowdy, along with Genovese, was switched to the backfield to bolster the team's defense near the beginning of the season.

The seniors on the team included Gauen, seniors Jennifer Slaingard and Christy Costillo and sophomore Jaine' Dellbridge, was the team's greatest strength. Gauen had a team with 10 assists and 10 assists but missed Clinton City's final game because of injury. Genovese played despite a knee injury.

"I thought Staci Dowdy had a great year, and I think Tonya Genovese and Kara Gauen had a great year despite injuries," Baker said.

DAR group meets

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the home of Barbara Williams on May 20 with nine members present.

Wilkinson read the general's message and Jane Vanier presented a financial defense report entitled "IRS for Health Care." The April minutes were read by Linda Mizell.

A division meeting will be held on June 9 at Allerton at which tentative plans for the 1995-96 year will be announced.

On June 14, the George Rogers Clark Chapter of the SAR will sponsor a Flag Day program in Mount Vernon and the local DAR chapter plans to be represented with its chapter flag.

On July 10, several members will attend a DAR state picnic "Tea at the Governor's Mansion" in Springfield. DAR Days will be held Sept. 12 in Mount Vernon and the chapter will have to be represented in order to pick up all materials for the ensuing year.

The day's program was presented by Linda Mizell on "Military Cemeteries Abroad."

Emma Schoen, a past regent, conducted the installation ceremony for the new officers for 1995-97. Answering her queries were Linda Mizell, regent; Jane Vanier, chaplain; Judith Schatz, regent; Barbara Williams, secretary; and Sandra Wilkinson, treasurer.

Unable to be present were Janet Wilson, vice regent, and Georgia Engelke, historian and librarian.

Horoscope

Thursday, June 8
The social milieu sparkles today. You're less inclined to alliances under a congenial Libra moon. Emphasize team spirit — the moon (feelings) harmonizes with Mercury (communication) and the sun (self) throughout the day. Projects move forward without a hitch. Uranus (change) shifts into Capricorn (stability) — seek ways to keep more secure. Curb impulsive spending. Practical fiscal plans must come first.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Zero in on your job aims — a lucky chance helps you realize a profit. A pinch and stretch dollars. A selected book is now in your debt. A talk with kin is productive — a flashback recalls past family experience.

Taurus (April 20-May 20)

Vote your love for someone dear your spoken word inspires more demonstrative romance. Thrive on bliss tonight.

A tip from a female friend strengthens your financial clouds. Search for surprise bargains on travel packages.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

Your edited version of recent social news is top billing. Gossip chimes. Inaccurate stories that Friday could make you look bad. Your outrageous flirting kick starts romance, and a breathtaking love epic begins.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Bodies and souls unite — your proven relationship gains power to bestow happiness.

Arrive early to visit a general neighbor or favorite aunt.

Friends are in the mood to chat.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You're

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

The assignment you thought was doomed is rescued at the 11th hour — a friend's help is responsible.

Reward his or her efforts.

Devotion to love gives everything a magical glow. The future looks bright.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Your

CARCINUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)

Love and money combine to support your aims. In August, singles wed and couples create families.

Wear a colorful lining or cushion makes sense. Teaching and tutoring are lucrative after school.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20)

Your romantic partner spins a wondrous tale — you're captivated but wisely circumspect.

Reward his or her efforts.

Devotion to love gives everything a magical glow. The future looks bright.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Your

worthy patron giving their committee appointments:

From Queen City Chapter: Carl Williams, chairman; women of the Endowment Fund; Charles Watkins, grand chapter transportation; Pat Watkins, youth support; Virginia John cancer research; and Neal Kels.

Masonic Unity.

Carol Williams, worthy patron, and both of Edwardsville Chapter, were escorted, introduced and seated in the east as guests of honor for the evening.

Anita Guffy, association with a prayer and by asking the worthy patron to lead the Pledge of Allegiance. The minutes were read by Vee Throne, secretary.

Several patrons came to the chapter for special occasions were extended for future dates.

The following past matrons and past patrons were escorted, welcomed Carol L. Garner, worthy grand matron; Glenn D. Ballinger, worthy grand patron, and Donna M. Johnson, co-chairwoman as honorary members. Certificates will be given to them at the official visit of the grand family on July 14.

The chapter voted to make a monetary donation to the Salvation Army and the local Red Cross chapter to help the victims of the recent flood. The members were asked to bring a dollar to the Shrine Circus, which was held May 31 in Granite City. The circus was held in O'Fallon.

The names of known sick members were announced and each person was asked that each be remembered in prayer, by sending cards and making visits when possible.

As one of the fund raisers for the chapter, it was announced that there was still several boxes of stationery available for sale.

The members of the chapter lives are on track — don't be diverted by a well-meaning but misguided friend. Faltering now sets your personal progress back. At work, a higher-up tests your loyalty to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

You and a Capricorn create romantic alchemy supreme. Exchange ethereal spiritual essences tonight when you're cosmetically attuned. Changing out of clothes can now hold on healthier footing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

Embellishing facts comes easy when you try to placate your superiors. Be careful fibs won't hold water. Be trustworthy, or you'll risk damaging love. Sports enthusiasts are in top form.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Skilled artists find markets for well-made wares. Seek legal advice before signing a contract.

Tonight's social set has an intriguing international cast. If you're looking for love, love's looking for you. Be visible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Out-of-the-way junk shops hold treasures — probe the racks for lucky finds and vintage gadgets for kitchen or workshop. Watch the bottom line — small expenditures can pay off fast. Prosperity comes through奉.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20)

Sister OES chapters honored in Granite City

Sister OES chapters honored in Granite City

Although it was raining outside, the atmosphere inside was warm and cheerful as Granite Chapter 650 Order of the Eastern Star honored sister chapters from Edwardsville and Fairview Heights on May 26.

The worthy patron, Jack DeCourcey, opened the meeting with the introduction of the worthy matron, Betty Ebrecht.

The worthy matron conducted the meeting, beginning with a prayer and by asking the worthy patron to lead the Pledge of Allegiance. The minutes were read by Vee Throne, secretary.

Several patrons came to the chapter for special occasions were extended for future dates.

The following past matrons and past patrons were escorted,

The meeting was then closed with a prayer. The worthy matron read a poem entitled "The Magic of Little Things" and asked that each member give a smile, a pat on the back, a kind word to a friend or neighbor and see how happy they could feel by making someone else's day.

Everyone was invited downstage for refreshments and a social hour. The tables were decorated with clowns as centerpieces. Individual favors were small clown's with a pencil sharpener on the base. Refreshments were served by Maud Gray and Mary Hoover.

The brothers will be honored at the next meeting, which will be held Friday, June 9.
